

Margot Harding-Vocal teacher.

Bachelor of Music, Opera major, UBC; Bachelor of Fine Arts, U of MB.

After completing her bachelor of Music degree as an opera major at the University of British Columbia, along with many other awards, Margot won a Canada wide scholarship competition to study in Salzburg, Austria. After 6 months of opera study at the Mozarteum in Salzburg, Austria, she performed in numerous concerts and performances in Austria and Germany including the gorgeous Landestheater in Mozart's' hometown, Salzburg, as a last minute fill-in for The Queen of the night. She has sung with the Salzburg opera, Manitoba Opera, Vancouver Opera, and the Winnipeg Symphony, Carnegie Hall, the Royal Winnipeg Ballet, The Manitoba Theatre Centre, The National Arts Centre (both the main theatre and concert hall stages), Rainbow Stage, numerous venues in Germany and Austria and various others. She has sung in The New Music Festival, premiering Murray Shafer's' "The Falcon's Trumpet", and has been featured on Arts and Minds on Bravo as well as CBC Stereo. On the theatre side, Margot played the coveted role of Sharon Graham in Terrence McNally's" Canadian premiere of "Master Class" at the Manitoba Theatre Centre and the National Arts Centre in Ottawa. Margot has also sung many times as a featured artist with The Winnipeg Symphony, The Royal Winnipeg Ballet, Manitoba Opera and others.

Margot is an active vocal coach with a wide variety of singing students of all ages, and runs her own music program called Tiny Tunes, in inner city daycares.
